Session	Why You Need to Attend this Session	Date and Time
1. “How to Use Zoom and MS Teams Effectively for Presentations and Meetings”	Many professionals continue to face challenges when using Zoom and MS Teams for presentations and meetings. Imagine a situation where an entire presentation for a major event was derailed because of a single unfamiliar feature in MS Teams—leaving the presenter in tears! To prevent such stressful moments and ensure your presentations or meetings go smoothly, join our session to gain mastery in using these platforms.	November 14 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time
2. “Discover Insider Tips and Strategies for Securing the Stipendium Hungaricum Scholarship”	The Stipendium Hungaricum is a prestigious, fully-funded scholarship program offered by the Government of Hungary, providing an incredible opportunity to study in Hungary. Some professionals are still unaware of this scholarship, let alone how to apply successfully. Join Ms. Joan Mirembe Nabasinga, the 2024/2025 recipient of this scholarship, as she guides you through the process of securing it. Imagine becoming the next recipient of this scholarship! Joan will also help you gain insights into the experience of studying and living in Hungary as an international student.	November 17 (Sunday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time
3. “How to Identify Fundable Research Gaps Using Review Papers”	Did you know that review papers are reservoirs of fundable research gaps? Prospective Master's and PhD applicants could boost their chances of securing funding by mastering the skill of identifying these critical gaps. This session will equip you with the skills and techniques needed to pinpoint fundable research opportunities within review papers.	November 21 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time

4. “Mastering the Art of Writing Review Papers to Boost Your Competitiveness for Master’s and PhD Scholarships”	Publishing a review paper can distinguish you from other applicants for Master's and PhD scholarships. However, writing a review paper can be daunting if you aren't familiar with some simple strategies. Dr. Dan Musinguzi, an experienced author of some review papers, is here to guide you. He will share the simplest formula for planning, writing, and publishing your first or next review paper.	November 28 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time
5. “Perfecting the Ask: How to Engage Scholarship Mentors and Get What You Need”	“Everyone needs a mentor” (Bill Gates). Unfortunately, some prospective applicants find it challenging to connect with potential mentors, often due to using ineffective approaches that lead to declined mentorship requests. This session will empower you with a straightforward technique for reaching out to potential mentors, increasing the likelihood of receiving an enthusiastic "YES" to your mentorship requests.	December 05 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time
6. “The 5-Minute Proposals for Scholarships (5MPS) Program – Session 1 Presentations ”	Presenting a research proposal or idea in just a few minutes during scholarship interviews or meetings with potential supervisors or funders can be both challenging and daunting. Some applicants even freeze under the pressure, missing out on scholarship/funding opportunities. The 5-Minute Proposals for Scholarships (5MPS) Program is designed to help prospective applicants present their research proposals or ideas with impact and confidence in five minutes or less. Join us for the inaugural session on December 12, 2024, where Jane Muthoni, Maria Assumpta, and Clare Akello will present their research proposals/ideas and receive feedback from experienced mentors/academicians.	December 12 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time
7. “Ask Dr. Dan Musinguzi Anything About How to Secure Fully Funded Scholarships for master’s and PhD”	As 2024 draws to a close, are you still grappling with pressing questions or concerns about securing fully funded scholarships for your Master's or PhD studies? If so, don't miss our final session of the year. Join Dan as he addresses your questions and provides the insights you need to succeed in 2025 and beyond.	December 19 (Thursday), 8:00-9:00pm East Africa Time

Note: There will be no reminders to attend these sessions. We encourage you to mark the dates of the sessions you’re interested in on your calendar and set personal reminders. For any questions, please contact Dan at dan@danmusinguzi.com
